DELAY HEARING AS WITNESSES REPORT TARDY

Five Called by Plane Maker Turn Up Late for Senate Inquiry Today.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—Witnesses called by Howard Hughes to testify at a senate inquiry into his wartime plane contracts showed up late today and caused more than an hour's delay in the start of the hearings.

Hughes himself walked into the hearing room ten minutes before four of the nine witnesses he had summoned made their appearance.

The hitch developed when Chairman Ferguson (R-Mich) of the senate war investigating committee called the roll of Hughes' witnesses shortly after 10 a. m. and none answered. He declared a short recess and said the inquiry might have to be delayed until Monday.

When four of the nine finally appeared, 45 minutes late, Committee Counsel William P. Rogers told them the hearing would begin at 11:15.

Apparently the delay was due to a misunderstanding.

Statement Denied

Ferguson insisted he notified Noah Dietrich, vice president of the Hughes Tool Company, last night to have Hughes' witnesses on hand.

Dietrich denied this to reporters.

Thomas A. Slack, Hughes' attorney, had said previously he did not know of plans to call the Hughes witnesses until an hour before hearing time this morning.

The subcommittee which Ferguson heads has been inquiring into two wartime plane contracts totalling about $40,000,000 which were awarded Hughes.

The central figure of the hearings rested in his hotel room yesterday while Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, retired air force procurement officer, stirred up a flurry by:

▶Denying a sworn statement by a former Hughes company attorney that the general tried to borrow $50,000 from Hughes during the war.

▶Acknowledging that he attempted unsuccessfully to obtain a loan of the same size from Hughes earlier this year.

▶Relating that Hughes offered to let him "write my own ticket" on salary if Meyers would go to work for the plane maker when the war ended.

▶Declaring, with his pretty blonde wife to back him up, that she—at her husband's request—stuffed $900 in cash into the pocket of John W. Meyer, Hughes' fun-loving publicity man, as repayment of entertainment, travel and hotel expenses on a west coast trip.

Denies He Was Repaid

Publicity man Meyer took the stand to reiterate that he never was repaid by the Meyers nor anyone else on whom he spent Hughes' money.

All this happened late yesterday as the senate war investigating committee pressed its inquiry into $40,000,000 worth of war plane contracts awarded to Hughes.

When it was over, Hughes, attorney Tom Slack, sought and received the committee's permission to have nine persons testify today in behalf of his boss before Gen. Meyers resumed his story.

Hughes conferred late into the night with associates who reported only that he was working on a statement he wants to offer the committee.

Ferguson announced the names of the Hughes witnesses but said he had no idea what stories they had to tell.

The witnesses:

Lieut. Gen. Barney Giles, former chief of the air staff; Col. E. A. Peterman and Edward Schwartz, members to the war evaluation board; Col. Richard Gabian, former air force representative at the Hughes plant; John Parkinson, a member of the naational advisory council for aeronautics; Col. William Irvine, an air force officer; and J. B. Alexander, Glen Odekirk and John Jerman, all Hughes company officials.

ASK PROTECTION AGAINST STATE SCHOOL ESCAPEES

By The Associated Press

LANCASTER, O., Nov. 8—A system of warning nearby communities of escapes at Boys' Industrial school here was asked today in petitions circulating in the nearby towns.

Residents of Amanda, Hamburg, Clearport, Revenge and Sugar Grove were asked to sign by Clarence Darling, Rt. 2, Lancaster, head of Farm Bureau Council No. 4.

Directed to Gov. Thomas J. Herbert, the petitions asked "protection" from BIS runaways, which were said to average one a day.

Neither Thomas Balzier, 18, of Columbus, was sentenced to one-to-five years in Mansfield reformatory yesterday in common pleas court after pleading guilty to a charge of breaking and entering a Revenge, O., farmhouse following his escape from the school about three months ago.

Unshaven and sleepy after a long spell at the controls in flight from the west coast, Howard Hughes is shown at left as he stepped from his converted B-23 bomber at Washington National Airport yesterday to attend second round of senate hearings on his wartime airplane contracts. NOW, IT'S EAT MORE CHICKEN

Poultryless Thursday Order Rescinded, But Ban Stays on Use of Eggs.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—Victorious poultry men hailed the end of poultryless Thursday today with a call for the public to eat more instead of fewer chickens.

Pledged to save 56,000,000 bushels of grain by reducing the size of their flocks, the growers faced the problem of peddling 136,000,000 birds between now and Jan. 1 in the face of the huge cold storage supplies already on hand.

In a joint statement with Secretary of Agriculture Anderson, the citizens food committee headed by Charles Luckman last night called an immediate "morstorium" on the poultryless days while retaining the Thursday ban on eggs.

Cites Tremendous Pressure

In Los Angeles for ceremonies attending the start of a transcontinental "Friendship Train" with foodstuffs for overseas, Luckman said:

"This committee has been under tremendous pressure for several weeks to remove the ban on poultryless Thursday, but no agreement was reached until the poultry industry came up with a definite program showing where 56,000,000 bushels of grain could be saved."

The committee referred to its action as a suspension "while the new program is given a chance," but the betting around Washington was that poultryless Thursday was as dead as a cold storage duck.

The poultry industry, in its substitute program, pledges to:

▶Reduce the number of broiler chicks one-third below normal seasonal levels by Jan. 31 and baby chicks production for all purposes by 7 per cent between Feb. 1 and June 30 for a com-

TOLEDO, O., Nov. 8 — Two youths and a girl died here early today in the flaming wreckage of their automobile, struck in the rear as they were returning from a dance at a Toledo high school.

A second girl occupant of the same automobile was badly burned, and the driver of the second car involved in the crash was injured severely.

The dead:

The dead youths, 1947 graduates of Holland High school, were members of an orchestra which played for the dance here, and the girls, Holland High school juniors, accompanied them to the dance.

Coroner Paul G. Hohly ordered Twining held under $10,000 bond as a material witness.

AUDITOR TO OUTLINE WAR BONUS PLAN

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8—State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson suggested today the procedure used in paying War I bonuses could be adopted as a "starting point" for setting up machinery to pay state bonuses just voted veterans of War II.

Ferguson said he would have information on the first bonus ready for sinking fund commissioners when they meet Monday to discuss methods of paying the second bonus.

The first bonus, created by constitutional amendment in 1921, was paid through a $25,000,000 bond issue, plus $4,280,000 in legislative appropriations. The bonds bore 3¾ per cent interest. A total of 234,000 claims were filed and 17,000 were disapproved. Veterans received a total of $29,012,528, or an average of $133.70 each.

Ferguson said 95 per cent of the approved claims were paid by June 30, 1923, or 20 months after passage of the "bonus act."

A director, two assistants and a staff of about 100 employes handled the payments at a total administrative cost of $252,000.

Ferguson recalled Eddie V. Rickenbacker, World War I ace, received the first bonus paid by Ohio. He never cashed the check for $185 but returned it to sinking fund commissioners with a suggestion the money be used "for the purpose of erecting and maintaining hospitals for the relief of World War Veterans."

OFFICIALS TO CONFER ON SPECIAL SESSION

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8 — Speaker of the Ohio House William O'Neill planned to confer with Gov. Herbert today on the need of calling a special session of the general assembly.

Administration leaders were reported considering the first two weeks of December as possible dates for a special session on three or four emergency subjects.

Readjustment of the general appropriations bill headed the list of probable items, but pressures were expected to be exerted on Gov. Herbert asking inclusion of reallocation of state sales tax revenues.

Major items expected in a call were:

Revamping of the general appropriations bill to conform to use of the $15,000,000 liquid fuel tax for highways and streets, and removing highway department allotments from the general fund.

Rewrite the liquid fuel tax law to restrict its revenue to street and highway use in conformity with the amendment approved Tuesday.

Correct an error of the last regular session which might divest townships of any gas tax funds and restrict gasoline revenues to road repairs.

ILLINOIS HUNT ON FOR KILLER

Woman Escapes Spurned Admirer After He Slays Her Husband and Father.

By The Associated Press

ROCKFORD, Ill., Nov. 8 — A young farmer, disappointed in his attentions to another man's wife, killed her husband and father last night and forced her to accompany him on his wild flight of 100 miles over northern Illinois highways.

At her first opportunity dark-haired Kathy Anderson, 26-year-old mother of three children, seized the pistol with which Glenn Marsh, 28, shot down her husband and father, and jumped from his automobile.

Marsh made no attempt to continue the abduction and sped off. He and his automobile, the windows smashed in a violent struggle during the 100-mile ride with his attractive captive, were the objects of a widespread police hunt today.

List of Dead

Dead in the shooting were the woman's husband, Vernon, 28, a neighbor farmer of Marsh, and her father, Grant Muhrlein, 52, of Northport, Mich.

Chief Folke Bengston of Rockford police and Sheriff John Enrietta Jr., of Grundy county, where the woman broke away from Marsh, pieced together this story:

In July, Marsh became infatuated with Mrs. Anderson, a neighbor but did not tell his wife, Audrey, 27, until last week. Yesterday when he learned the Andersons were planning to move from the Rockford area he left home.

Mrs. Marsh, and her two children, Richard, 5, and Susan, 3, went to the home of Rockford friends to live.

While supper was being prepared last night in the home of Anderson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Anderson, there was a knock at the door. Anderson and Muhrlein, seated at the kitchen table, looked up but Anderson's warning of "don't unlock it" was too late.

Marsh burst past Anderson's mother, Gertie, who answered the door, and fired three shots at the men. Both men rose up to lunge at Marsh, then collapsed head to head and mortally wounded in a doorway.

Vernon's sister Melba, dropped the plates of food she was carrying and herded the three young children, Larry, 5; Karl, 4, and Karen, 2, to safety.

Tries To Escape

Mrs. Anderson ran to a bedroom, pushed out a window pane but was unable to escape from Marsh. Threatening "if you don't come with me, I'll kill you," Marsh dragged the woman toward the door.

When her mother-in-law tried to stop him Marsh told her "be quiet and you won't get hurt." She ignored his warnings and he leveled his pistol at the woman. He pulled the trigger but the weapon had jammed. He beat her on the head with the butt, flooring her.

Marsh dragged young Mrs. Anderson out the door, shoved her into the automobile and sped away.

For several hours highway patrols searched the area in an effort to head off the fugitive car and halt it without harming the unwilling passenger.

Police placed Mrs. Marsh in "protective custody," not knowing where her husband might strike next.

Shortly before midnight Marsh stopped his car at a root beer stand on the outskirts of Morris, 100 miles southeast of Rockford, to buy something to eat.

Snatches Pistol

Mrs. Anderson reached into the glove compartment of the car,

Rent Control Likely To Stay On Marion Area Properties

Possibilities of relaxing rent control in the Marion area are not bright following a meeting of the local control board this week when a continuation of rent control at least for the present time was unanimously advocated by the six man panel.

At a meeting Tuesday the board adopted two resolutions, one of which states that "the recommendation of the local board shall be for the continuance of rent control for the present in this area, leaving the general rent level or its adequacy at its present level pending further study by the board."

The board also went on record as adopting a policy of giving careful, conscientious and unprejudiced consideration to all petitions for rent adjustment and relief with due concern to the rights and problems of both the landlords and tenants with all decisions made by the board operative only by unanimous consent of the board.

The continuance of present controls, the board declared, was advocated after discussion of both the problems of decontrol of the local defense-rental area and the adequacy of the general rent level in this area. It was decided that additional study of these two questions would be necessary before further recommendations could be made.

It is within the scope of the local board to decontrol the Marion area now if it deemed it advisable. Decontrol would be obtained through the Washington office upon recommendation of the Marion board after a local hearing had been conducted, according to Thomas Fetter, member of the Marion board. Fetter indicated the possibility exists that local rent controls will be off by Feb. 1, 1948. These controls were set up under the housing and rent act passed by the last session of congress and going into effect as of July 1 of this year.

Members of the board in addition to Mr. Fetter are Karl W. Schell, chairman, E. E. Crizer, E. H. Parr, C. J. Roberts and Harold Nussbaum. Mr. Crizer was named vice chairman of the board at Tuesday's meeting.

SCHOOLS TO OBSERVE EDUCATION WEEK

Visitation of Parents to Classrooms Arranged.

"The Schools Are Yours, Visit Them, Nov. 9-15" is being used as the theme for the twenty-seventh annual observance of American Education Week in the Marion Public schools next week.

Visitation by parents to the schools their children attend is being urged by the Marion Education Association. This is to enable the parents to see the pupils in regular classroom work and to see how classes are conducted.

Invitations in the elementary schools are being made in the writing and art classes, and some teachers are sending copies of the pupils daily schedule with the invitation which will make it possible for parents to visit when a particular subject is being pursued.

No particular time is being set for visitation, as it is felt by the teachers that too many visitors at one time might tend to break the naturalness of the classroom atmosphere. Exhibits of the pupils' work will be on display in the various buildings.

Also as a part of the local observance, a series of four radio broadcasts will be presented over WMRN, from 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. each day Monday through Thursday. The programs on the various days will be in charge of the following persons: Monday, E. E. Holt, superintendent of city schools; Tuesday, W. E. Orcutt, principal of Central Junior High school; Wednesday, Clark M. Fouts, president of the Marion Education Association and principal at Silver Street school; and Thursday, Paul Bingman, program chairman of the P.-T. A. Council and principal of Mark Street and Forest Lawn schools.

Ashland County Rent De-control Rejected

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—Acting Housing Expediter Tighe E. Woods turned down yesterday a proposal for removal of rent control from parts of Ashland county, O., exclusive of the cities of Ashland and Loudonville.

He said the recommendation failed to show that demand for rental housing "has been reasonably met" in the county.

His announcement said also that the rent advisory board for the entire Mansfield defense rental area had failed to act on the proposal which was made by board members from Ashland county only. The defense area includes Ashland, Crawford, Richland and Knox counties.

FOREIGN AID STUDY MADE

Proposed Control by One New Federal Board Viewed Favorably.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—Congressional leaders who will tackle the foreign aid problem at the Nov. 17 special session studied today a recommendation that the whole job be handed over to a single new government corporation.

The suggestion came from a 19-man special house foreign economic committee which toured Europe last summer for the background to work out the broad policies of the stop-Communism-in-Europe program.

The committee said the new agency should sift all requests for help in western Europe, boss the purchase of materials in this country, wield any controls necessary to protect the economy of the United States and make sure "that the aid reaches those for whom it is intended."

The committee's recommendations were expected to carry heavy weight, since the group was formed at the insistence of Republican leaders who wanted congress to obtain its own information to consider along with the administration's Marshall plan and stop-gap aid proposals.

They were made public late yesterday by Vice Chairman Herter (R-Mass) in the form of an informal interim report.

Since the Herter group has no legislative authority and cannot draft legislation, it left the details of its program to be filled in by the standing legislative committees.

Its proposed new government foreign aid corporation would be managed by a bipartisan board of directors appointed by the presi-

136-DAY SHIPYARDS STRIKE IS SETTLED

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—A settlement of the 136-day old strike of 22,000 workers at eight Bethlehem shipyards on the Atlantic coast was announced today after an all-night meeting of union and company officials and federal mediators.

The settlement, which must be ratified by members of the CIO Marine and Shipbuilding union, covers all the struck Bethlehem plants except the Parapsco company, Fairfield, Md., where 900 workers are on strike.

William N. Margolis, assistant director of the U. S. federal mediation and conciliation service, announced the major settlement, which provides, among other things, for a 12 cents an hour wage increase. It is due to go into effect Monday, Nov. 10.

The shipyards covered by the agreement are at Quincy, Mass.; East Boston, Mass.; Hoboken, N. J.; Staten Island, N. Y.; Brooklyn, N. Y.; Baltimore, Md.; and Sparrows Pt., Md.

CREW OF 28 BELIEVED SAFE

Freighter Once Known as "Ghost Ship" in Distress Near Ludington, Mich.

LUDINGTON, Mich., Nov. 8—The little Coast Guard cutter, Sundew, ended a dramatic race through 25 to 30 foot seas today and put a line aboard the stricken freighter Jupiter. The Coast Guard said her crew of 28 was out of danger for the present.

Freshening winds and driving flurries of snow heightened the drama in surging, green Lake Michigan seas about two miles off shore.

Between 65 and 70 passengers aboard two car ferries, marooned on the stormy waters for hours while their ships stood by the Jupiter, watched the attempted rescue unfold.

Coast Guard officials said the Jupiter, known on the Great Lakes as a "ghost ship" because of her difficulties with her union crew, was pulling up anchor.

Another Cutter on Way

Chief Bosuns Mate R. L. Flewelling of the Coast Guard, indicated the cutter may hold the Jupiter off dangerous shallows until a larger Coast Guard vessel, the Mackinaw, reaches the scene about 1 p. m.

Then, he added, the Jupiter will either be towed to port or taken out to sea beyond the reach of the treacherous reefs.

L. H. Kent, general carferry superintendent for the Pere Marquette railroad, said his sailors reported the sea so strong that the Jupiter was "just flopping back and forth."

High winds were moderating somewhat but at 6 a. m. message from the stricken vessel said she was taking on water and dragging her anchor.

At that time the Jupiter's crew despaired of lasting out the hour.

However, at 7 a. m. she radioed that the immediate danger appears over and that, unless she went aground, she would be able to hold out until the Coast Guard Cutter arrived.

Known as Ghost Ship

The Jupiter was known a few months back as the "ghost ship of the Great Lakes" because she was unable to land during a dispute with the CIO National Maritime Union.

On the beach within sight of the wallowing freighter was a Coast Guard party. Ready to lend aid if the ship broke up or sank.

"She could still go aground anytime the anchor lets loose," a Coast Guard officer said.

A carferry, the City of Saginaw owned by the Chesapeake and Ohio railroad, put out shortly before midnight to aid the Jupiter, and managed to come within 200 feet of her, but could not get a line across to the crippled ship carrying a crew of 28.

The ferry, however, had to return to port because a crew member was injured. The Coast Guard said it had no information as to the extent of the injuries or how they were incurred.

In Death Spot

The Jupiter, property of the Jupiter Steamship Co. of Cleveland met trouble in the same stretch of water where some 60 sailors drowned in the disastrous storm on Armistice day, 1940.

Mysterious circumstances, which surrounded the luckless Jupiter when it acquired its name "fugitive ship" during the seaman's strike, were present again today. The Coast Guard said it did not know where the ship had been docked, its destination, or even the direction in which it was traveling.

The vessel was laden with rock salt and had a gross tonnage of 3,179—a factor which probably enabled her to remain upright in the heavy gales.

Bird-McGinnis Legion Post To Honor Returned War Dead

To pay appropriate military honors to Marion county's World War II dead who are being returned to this country in the repatriation program, Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion, has begun organizing a uniformed firing squad to serve at all funerals for which the Legion's services are requested, it was announced today.

The privilege of serving on the firing squad is being extended in particular to World War II members, since post officers feel that this service is one way in which the younger members will have the opportunity to publicly honor their comrades who did not return.

In preparation for many requests which it is expected the post will be called on to meet in the coming weeks and months, firing squad drill is being conducted every Monday at 8 p. m. in the Legion club headquarters on East Center street, under the direcion of Robert Martin.

It is hoped that a sufficient number of World War II members will accept the privilege of serving to assure the post of two squads, each composed of eight men and two squad commanders.

Enfield Rifles Used

In preparation for the ceremonial rites, the post equipment now includes Enfield rifles with the original finish, and a plentiful supply of blank ammunition.

Members of the firing squad will wear either their service uniforms or their Legion uniforms.

The post has asked that World War II members and any World War I members who wish to serve to contact Mr. Martin at 6155, Earl Caldwell, or John Moore, 4170.

Craig Rogers, American Legion county commander, has received word of the impending return of several bodies from overseas, one from the Pacific and several from the Eurenpn area.

In addition to providing the firing squad for the cemetery rites, Bird-McGinnis post also, when requested, will furnish a color guard, pallbearers, and bugler for the military service, it was announced.

The post is cooperating with all veterans' organizations and the National Guard in the county to provide fitting funeral ceremonies for the war dead, according to the officers.

In addition, as a part of the American Legion participation in the repatriation program, Bird-McGinnis Post will assist families through its service officer with information about death benefits from the Veterans' Administration, both compensation and insurance, and has complete information to furnish families not familiar with the repatriation program.

Commodity Prices In Third General Rise

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8—The agriculture department reported yesterday that commodity prices are continuing their third general advance since the summer of 1946.

"Although prices have climbed less rapidly recently than they did early this year and in the fall of 1946, the persistence of the increase shows that the danger of a faster and very serious inflation is still present," the bureau of agricultural economics said in a report on the demand-and-price situation.

Retail prices have continued to rise gradually, the bureau said. The index was 160 in August, one point higher than in July and 15 points higher than in August, 1946. The retail price index is based on 100 for 1935-39.

The report said the farm price of wheat rose 23 cents between mid-September and mid-October.

TRIAL SATISFIES AMISH OUTCAST

Gets $5,000 Verdict; Court Orders "Mite" Ended.

By The Associated Press

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 8—The life of a social outcast was declared at an end by court order for Andrew J. Yoder today, and the 33-year-old Amish farmer pronounced himself satisfied with the outcome.

As far as civil authority was concerned, Yoder's quarrel with four Amish church officials over a "mite" or boycott was settled by (1) an award of $5,000 damages, and a (2) court injunction restraining those officials from imposing bans upon church members.

"I am satisfied," said Yoder stolidly after he heard yesterday's verdict by a non-Amish jury. "I believe the injunction will do more good than the damages.

"I think they (the churchmen) will think some time before they put on any more bans."

Yoder, asked if he thought the church officials would obey the injunction, replied: "If they don't, they are awful narrowminded."

The unusual and colorful trial in a courtroom crowded with members of the black-hatted, bearded sect and curious citizens hinged on this main issue, said Judge Walter J. Mougey:

Can a group of church officials proclaim a member a social outcast for transferring his membership from one church to another?

Yoder had been "mited" or boycotted for the last five years because he transferred his membership from the Helmuth church to the Bunker Hill district congregation where he would be allowed to purchase an automobile to transport his invalid daughter to a hospital here for treatment.

The Helmuth regulations forbade ownership or operation of a car.

Yoder had asked $40,000 damages complaining that he felt like a "whipped dog" under the ban because so many of his neighbors refused to deal with him on a social or business basis.

When yesterday's verdict ended the three-day trial, the defendants already had gone to their farm homes. The four—Bishop John W. Helmuth of Beach City, Ministers Isaac I. Miller of Apple Creek and John J. Nisley of Fredericksburg and Deacon Emmanuel Wengerd of Beach City—could not be reached for comment.

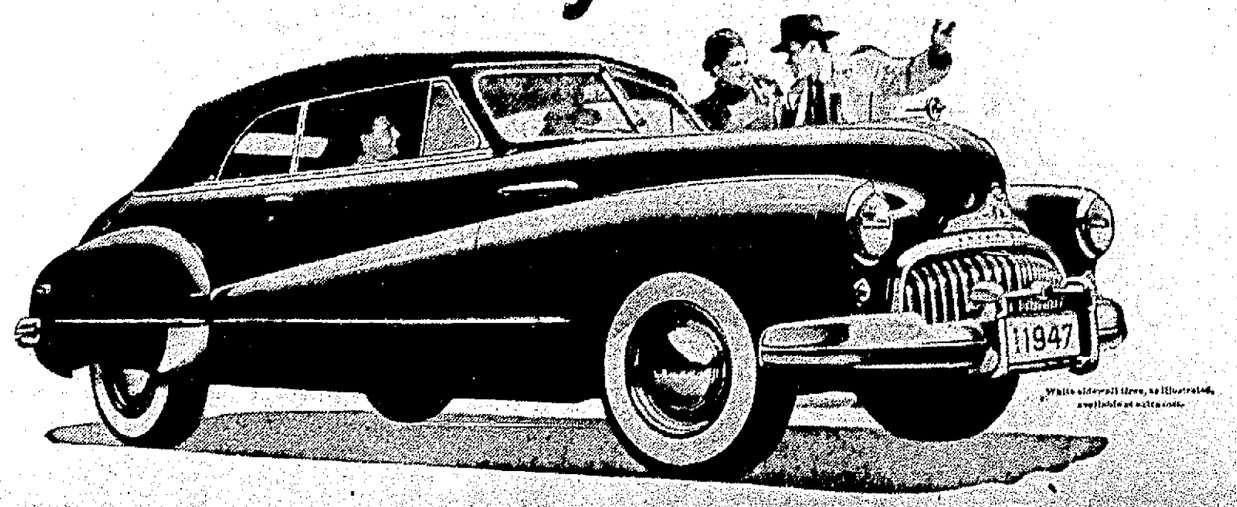
Center of all "Ayes"



YOU look over those long, clean lines, free and flowing as the wind — and you say "Aye!" to that.

You slip behind the ready wheel, settle yourself in deep, soft cushions — and once more the "Ayes" have it.

You finger the little buttons that run the door windows up or down, test out the control that at a touch positions the front seat for you — and those things win your nod.

Now put foot to treadle. There's the quick answer of eight big Fireball cylinders, tossing down a challenge to go adventuring.

Look over the top. A pull on a knob will swing it back out of the way — yet you find it tight and snug against the nippiest of November winds.

Make a little test run, picking out roads not noted for their smoothness.

They're ironed level by four coil springs, cushioned by Safety-Ride rims that get 25-lb. softness from standard 30-lb.-pressure tires.

You test the wheel, the brakes, the room, the road-hugging steadiness. They all win "Ayes" as America's most wanted automobile shows why it is just that.

Centered here are all the good things you want in a car — including style that stands all alone for sheer beauty and as a forecast of coming things.

So why hold back?

Be as smart as those who've gone before you and get your order in, with or without a car to trade, soon as you can.

TRINITY Lutheran church on the Smeltzer road was the scene of the wedding Sunday, Oct. 26, of Miss Mary Lou Moyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlos Moyer of Waldo, to John Junior Laucher, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Laucher of Prospect. The ceremony was read at 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon by Rev. Wilbur R. Forecast Columbus To Vote Tax on Payrolls

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8 — A payroll tax for Columbus was predicted today by the Ohio State Journal which forecast city council enactment of the measure shortly after the first of the year.

The Journal said the new tax, presumably to be .75 of one per cent, would be similar to a levy adopted in Toledo in January 1946.

Figures presented by the Columbus Chamber of Commerce showed an annual gross payroll of $404,500,000, which would produce $3,033,750 yearly at the .25 of one per cent rate, the Journal reported.

Four factors leading to a financial crisis in Columbus were listed by the Journal. They were: prospect of a 1948 deficit of $1,000,000; a new requirement of $1,000,000 to operate fire and police departments on a 40-hour week; back pay suits totaling $1,200,000 inherited from the early 30's, and $800,000 in river pollution suits against the city.

The city council has three possible solutions, the Journal said: An income tax; deficit financing by bond issue, or placing an operating levy before the voters.

All's Well, or Is It?

PROBABLY the last person to talk to John G. Winant, former ambassador to Great Britain, before he took his life was John J. Nordhoust, a former merchant seaman who visited him Sunday, Nov. 2. Nordhoust owed much to Winant, who had helped him get his schooling—one of many persons thus befriended.

The former ambassador and New Hampshire governor was worried, Nordhoust has explained. He was worried because world conditions were more serious than people realized. "The people of the United States don't know what's coming," he told Nordhoust. "They think the war is over and that everything is all right."

Perhaps Winant was too gloomy. Perhaps he looked too far ahead. Analysts are better off, in that respect. They look only as far ahead as their noses and report what they see there, which right now is one of the goldarndest Christmas buying rushes in the history of American merchandising. There will be only rare intervals in the merry tinkling of the cash register to think about a man who couldn't bear to think of what was ahead for his countrymen besides Christmas.

No G.O.P. Trend

REPUBLICANS found nothing to cheer about but plenty to think about when the outlying precincts were heard from last Tuesday night. The trend that made them unbeatable in 1946 had disappeared. Persons studying the national picture found hints it now may be working for the Democrats.

Democrats gained important ground in politically pivotal states like Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, Indiana and Kentucky. In Indiana they picked up 25 mayors, for instance. Evidence like this will be cited to persuade doubtful voters that a bandwagon is starting to roll for Harry Truman.

But as Mark Sullivan has been pointing out for years, it's more than a bandwagon that's rolling in national politics. Both old-line parties are seeing a demonstration of politicking by union labor's political machine—a major element in politics at the place that matters most, the voting booth.

The union's political organizations were important in the outcome of many municipal elections last Tuesday. They got out the vote—their vote. They took shrewd advantage of Republican lethargy. They demonstrated that the Democrats are dependent on them, a circumstance that many Democrats would like to forget.

Labor union politicos are a vital element in politics for the simple reason they have learned how to poll votes in cities. Republicans can't lick them with hoopla; it will take the same old-fasnioned doorbell ringing and grass-roots organization the union bosses are using. The Democrats can't lick them, because they are the only reliable source of Democratic voting strength.

There was plenty to think about when all the returns were in last week—for Republicans, for Democrats, for the union politicians and for millions who have a stake in the orderly evolution of political parties in the United States. If Republicans aren't willing to work at least as hard for what they want as the opposition is willing to work for what it wants, they will continue to get what they got in the election of 1947—a lesson in practical politics.

Good Neighbor Peron

AMERICAN policy on Argentina has changed radically, in the last 24 months. Speaking a few days ago at an American Legion meeting in Buenos Aires, American Ambassador James Bruce called President Peron "a great leader of a great nation, a man of extraordinary ability."

In January, 1946, Assistant Secretary of State Braden was assailing Peron for supplying haven for Nazis. Hostile crowds appeared at the American embassy and the American delegation at an Argentine state ceremony was hissed.

There has been no change in Argentina's policy: it's ours that has changed. The Braden influence is gone from the state department. Argentina has come into the inter-American conference of nations. It will receive surplus war supplies from the United States and military instructors if it asks for them.

We have decided to be realistic instead of idealistic with regard to Argentina. The Peron regime is no worse than certain other so-called republics south of the border with which we have been on friendly terms for years. If those nations aren't, internally constituted so as to be democracies cast in our own image, it is not a matter to be pursued in a hostile atmosphere. The best we can do is serve as an example and as a good neighbor for the present.

Did You Know

It is estimated that the Roman Catholic church has almost 25 million members in the United States with almost 40,000 priests.

El Salvador with an area of 13,176 square miles is the smallest of the Central American republics.

Scanning the Record

By George E. Sokolsky

Examining the Right To Fire.

THE state department has run into rough weather because of its dismissal of a number of employes whose loyalty is doubted. The argument is set forth that these men should not have been dismissed without trial. They have hired counsel to fight dismissal.

In a word, their assumption is that they have a vested interest in their job, that once having been appointed, they cannot be fired except at considerable inconvenience. An employer ought to be able to fire anyone he distrusts whose presence is obnoxious. Does the employer have to wait until his safe has been robbed, his correspondence stolen and carbon copies of his papers distributed where they do not belong? Can he take no steps to protect himself?

In this instance, the state department is protecting the United States of America. It ought to be free to fire anyone whose loyalty is in question is doubted, is suspected. Those who do not court suspicion are not often suspected.

The Case of James L. Fly

I am minded of what Professor Sidney Hook calls a befuddled decision by James L. Fly, in the matter of the wise and sound dismissal of an employe of the National Council of Jewish Women. This organization discovered that one of its employes was conducting subversive activities and fired her on the charge of ". . . Having subverted in her official capacity the policies of the organization by urging cooperation of local sections with Communist-front organizations, with having substituted Communist reading lists for the council's in her recommendations to the sections, with preparing biased materials in a child study survey which systematically denigrate American achievements and glorify those of Communist Russia, and with a number of other specific actions of related character."

Thereupon her union kicked up a row. According to Professor Hook: ". . . The record of one of the grievance hearings relating to the discharge, introduced into evidence and accepted by Mr. Fly, shows that the secretary of the local is a self-confessed member of the Communist party . . ." So James Fly sat in the matter as between the employer who was being betrayed and the worker who admitted it but claimed that she could not be fired anyhow. This is what Fly said about the dismissed gal's book-list which she distributed:

Book List Objectionable

"It is the arbitrator's conclusion, after considering the character of the area secretary's lists, the type of lists issued by the council, her failure to clear her lists with the education department, and the number and type of materials she selected in addition to that already used by council, that the area secretary deviated from the council's policy and program in recommending her list of books, organizations and publications in Kansas City, St. Louis and Leavenworth.

I could go on quoting all the unfavorable things that brother Fly says about the dismissed employe. He makes it clear that she was on her own, that she was not serving her employer, not following instructions, not protecting those who paid her salary. All that is clear in Fly's decision.

But, says he, give her back her job. Give her all her former responsibilities and pay. Why? Apparently, as far as I can follow Mr. Fly's logic, because the council was inefficient in not catching her before they discovered what she was. In other words, since the employer hired her, the employer is responsible for conduct, but they cannot fire her even if she betrayed their trust.

Mr. Fly's Strange Reasoning

Professor Hook says:

"Absurdity can go no further. If I hire someone, instruct him carefully in his duties, and then fail to prevent him from walking off with my household effects, on Mr. Fly's reasoning I would be equally responsible, first for not telling him not to steal the furniture, and second, for not watching him day and night to prevent him from doing so."

There is something nutty about Fly's theory. Apparently, if the employer once makes the mistake of taking on the wrong employe, he may never correct the mistake. The right to dismiss ought to be inviolable, for without it there can be no efficiency, no safety, no order. Fly's decision will ever be a classic of confusion as Hook's study of it in "the new leader" is a classic of logic.

United on Philly
If Not on Harry

Both the Democrats and Republicans have chosen Philadelphia as the site for their '48 conventions.

This will probably be the last thing they will agree on for at least another four years.

Holding both conventions in the same hall is logical and economical. They can just leave the Republican decorations up for the Democrats, substituting Truman's picture for Lincoln's.

It'll make it much more convenient for the "Draft Eisenhower" enthusiasts, not having to move to another city to contact the Democrats once they get the cold shoulder from the G.O.P.

Economists estimate delegates will spend thirty-five million dollars at the two conventions. I didn't know there was that much sparkling water in the world.

Fortunately, several weeks will elapse between the Republican and Democratic conventions. Otherwise, Philadelphia might well lose its long-standing title of "The City of Brotherly Love."

Middle-East Cauldron Bubbles

By Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

WHEN both the Soviet Union and the United States amazed the world by agreeing on something—the partition of Palestine—there was a general tendency to heave sighs of relief and assume happily that one problem, at least, was on the way to solution. This cheerful view was implicit in the American proposal last week in the United Nations that separate Jewish and Arab states be set up next July 1, immediately after the British troops pulled out. For the American proposal clearly implied that the two states could be established without being imposed by force.

Unfortunately those who are closest to the situation in Palestine and the Middle East do not share this optimism. On the contrary, they expect trouble, and very bad trouble. One source of this trouble is sure to be an aging, crafty fanatic with a benevolent face and a fierce hatred of Zionism, Haj Amin Husseini, the Grand Mufti of Jerusalem.

The chief weapon in the Grand Mufti's political armory is a very old one—political assassination. And the Mufti, according to reliable reports, has made his position entirely clear. Any Arab who accepts public office or otherwise collaborates with the partition scheme, in either the new Jewish state or the truncated Arab state, will not live long enough to regret his action.

He Usually Acts

As the Arab world knows, the Grand Mufti's threats are rarely idle. Some time ago, one of the Mufti's relations, a maverick Husseini who preached Arab-Jewish cooperation, was neatly dispatched as a convenient object lesson. More recently, one of the leading moderates in the Arab office, an Arab who wished to solve the Palestine problem by political negotiation and compromise, was called into the Mufti's presence. He was quietly given to understand—the Mufti always speaks quietly—that it would be wise on his part to play the game the Mufti's way, if he wished to avoid most unpleasant consequences. The moderate agreed with alacrity, and the Arab offices are now deeply under the Mufti's influence.

In fact, the United Nations proposal for a partitioned Palestine, by discrediting the Arab moderates, who wanted to rely on political negotiation rather than violence to prevent the creation of a Jewish state, has strengthened the Mufti's position. He is now lavishly financed by Saudi Arabia's Ibn Saud and by Egypt's fat, pleasure-loving Farouk. But he is not dependent on the generosity of these monarchs.

With astute foresight, the Mufti managed to get a large proportion of his Nazi financial backing out of Germany even while the war was still on. He now is known to have a large cache of gold in Iraq, and a considerable fortune in Switzerland, largely in the form of easily negotiable Swiss watches.

With this money, and with a well-organized, highly-paid and fanatical gang of triggermen, the Mufti's influence is increasingly paramount in Arab politics.

Sign of Real Trouble

But it is a widely held misconception that Adab opposition to the creation of a Zionist state is confined to the Mufti and his friends. The Mufti will act as the chief fanner of the flames of Arab resentment but the resentment already exists. This is further underlined by the fact that the recruiting of anti-Zionist Arabs in Bagdad, unofficially sponsored by the Iraq government, is said to be going well. Obviously all this spells real trouble; so much trouble, indeed, that those who are close to the situation seriously doubt that it will be possible to complete the projected great new Anglo-American oil pipelne. The pipeline could too easily be cut by the Arabs. This in turn would seriously affect the shipment of oil to Europe under the Marshall plan.

Nor is that all. For the Soviets are clearly preparing to fish in the troubled Middle Eastern waters. The evidence points to the fact that the strategists in the Kremlin intend to play the game both ways. Already at least one shipment of Soviet arms for the Arabs has arrived at Latakia, in Arab Syria, from Danzig, and other shipments have no doubt arrived elsewhere unobserved. On the other hand, there are reliable reports that Communist agents provocateurs have been sent to Jewish communities in Palestine from Romania.

Finally, there is the question of who is to impose the partition—for despite the hopeful words of the American delegation in the United Nations nothing is more clear than that it will have to be imposed. It is difficult to believe that Belgians or Peruvians would willingly expose themselves to either Jewish or Arab bullets. Yet if American troops go to Palestine, Russian troops will go there too; and the thought of the Red army in Palestine is not an appetizing one to the American policy makers.

"I Killed Brownie"

By Frank Tripp

MY father came into the kitchen, put his dinner pail on the table and slumped into a chair. My mother, awaiting him, was getting a late supper. It was near my bedtime. I was that young; yet remember.

"What's the matter, Ed?" mother asked.

"I killed Brownie," my father said.

He dropped his head in his hands and began to sob.

Brownie was my father's fireman. To me he was the greatest man in all the world, next to my dad. Together, pop and Brownie ran Old 24 on the little E.C.&N., which became a part of a big railroad system.

When I'd go to ride on the engine it was Brownie who took charge of me. I would sit on his side of the cab and ring the bell.

After he had stoked the big firebox he'd climb beside me and point out all manner of interesting things along the route, as Old 24 tugged her load through hamlet, vale and forest.

And now Brownie was dead. It was my first realization of death and the permanent loss of someone I loved. Do you wonder I remember?

The scene in that humble, lamplit kitchen at twilight, more than a half century ago, was the foundation of a strange kind of respect and pity for my parents. It lingers yet.

Whenever someone wants to send the children away from such a scene it comes back to mind and makes me think they're wrong.

It was the first grief I had ever shared with my mother and my dad. We had shared many joys. They were simple joys; we hadn't much to buy joy with. Folks didn't buy joy then. They lived it.

Since then, like you who've reached my years, I've been at many scenes of grief. Where hearts seemed crushed beyond repair. Still none stands out like that grim night. Why?

Because a strong man wept. He was of sturdy stock, who'd pioneered with the iron horse. So had his dad in Boston, back in 1836—and all of his brothers. Because such a man, a stoic by repute, broke down and cried.

Because the woman who shared his life wept with him; knelt down by his knee, stroked his greying head and wiped off tears that stained the weather-beaten, cindered cheeks he'd not yet thought to cleanse.

And I cried too. Why not? Not only had I lost a friend but all of my little world was weeping. Not a thing seemed left.

Why should I employ your time to tell you this? Scarce a one who reads this far but has lived some such scene, perhaps resents having it brought to mind.

"It's just my crude way to speak that men may well think back to just such scenes; these days when wholesale death is such a common thing. When a single death seems but a sparrow's fall.

Death should be a personal, tragic thing. To make men think. Think of God.

My father didn't kill Brownie. His engine did—ran over him. But it was Brownie's engine too. Still pop gripped the throttle that could have saved Brownie, had he known.

There is an old-time sense of responsibility among railroad men; that is cruel in a way. It makes them cautious and grave, who control the power entrusted to their hands.

How much of that exists in those who now thrust power through the streets? Roaring cars and trucks in reckless flight where children play. Protected by license and right by law. Confined to no tracks. Capable of, and accomplishing, more death and destruction than railroads ever caused.

Consciences seared to live serenely on—'cause 'twas the other fellow's fault.

And my old dad died believing he killed Brownie!

The Once Over

The "Miss Hush" Matter

An automobile, an airplane, trips abroad and wagonloads of household equipment and cosmetic luxuries are being offered in another "guess who?" radio program in which a verse is the guide to the identity of a well-known American. This time it is a single woman. The verse runs:

Second for Santa Claus,
First for me;
Seven for wreath, thirteen for thee.
Bring me an auto, a book and a ball
And I'll say Merry Christmas
In Spring, not in Fall.

As a result more people are now being carried out of homes in straitjackets than at any time since the Clara Bow mystery voice. Everywhere you go you encounter men and women talking to themselves. Our house has gone nuts too, with the missus tottering around muttering "Seventh for wreath....two if by sea. . thirteen for Notre Dame ..one if by land . Yale 23 Santa Claus, 7....It must be Isadora Duncan. No, she's dead."

While the maid hobbles about stammering "Bring me a book, a spring and a fall I'll say come seven eleven....Three balls, one strike....Eenie, meenie, miney mo It could be Elsa Maxwell or a try around left end with two minutes to go."

We derided such goings on for a time but now we, too, are bounding from library to library, reference book to reference book, dilemma to dilemma, false clue to false clue and bobby-hatch to padded cell.

All night long we lie awake thinking, "Second for Santa"... That must be something about a horse race .. Is there any famous single woman named place and show?...Why Santa instead of Stymie? .. First for me? . First for me, first for peace, first in the hearts of lettuce.. No that's the wrong track ...What's first for me?

Think hard and remember it's gotta be second for Santa? Chimneys?... Socks...Bags? .. Snowflakes- ..Is there any notable single lady named Popcorn Ball or Let's Light the Tree Now?

"Seven for wreath, thirteen for thee Seven what? Seven who? Seven Horseman? No, there were only four and what lady do you know named after four nags.

"Bring me an auto, a book and a ball Nerts! Bring me some sleeping pills, a ballbat and a radio program director.

"Auto ...Book?....Ball?....Isn't there a famous actress named Studebaker Novelette who married a man named Cadillac Pigskin or Buick Wildpitch? .. Officer, I'll go quietly and put me in a ward with seven wreaths, one Santa Claus and a streetcar named basketball. My name? I just go by a number . .Thirteen in the spring and December 25th in the fall."

Scotching a Rumor

By Truman Twill

There's a rumor to the effect that someone is promoting a drive to get all former air raid wardens into the Freedom Train for nothing. Pay no attention to it. The wardens will ask no favors.

In behalf of all former air raid wardens, this column affirms they are not interested in any form of postwar recognition of their service to the country. All of them had their reward in knowing they helped to win the war.

They are willing to write off the weary hours they spent lining up for parades, adjusting their arm bands, getting the hang of their iron hats, affixing the red gelatin to their flashlights, tweeting their tin whistles and doing their darndest to look grim and resolute in the face of a potential disaster they knew they couldn't cope with if it happened.

The air raid wardens now are content to sit by the fire and tell their grandchildren harrowing tales about being briefed to deal with poison gas by instructors who never had heard of it and wouldn't have known what to do about the smell of garlic if they'd encountered it, except to wonder what was cooking.

They will be satisfied to curl up with their memories of stirrup pumps that would have made as much impression on an incendiary bomb as a baby spitting into a blast furnace; and with their quaint notion that all a red-blooded American needed to cool off a thermite bomb was a bucket of sand and a shovel.

They will shudder in reminiscent horror as they remember that they were totally unprepared to handle the maimed, or spot a broken neck or a crushed pelvis before the victim had been tossed lightly, like a garden salad in a wooden bowl. They will struggle to remember where the pressure points were and what they were supposed to do with the piece of rope, the ladder and the garden hose that the book said every good air raid warden should have.

The wardens want nothing now. They will accept no favors. They are willing to pay homage to the symbols of freedom on the same basis as anyone else. To be sure, there will come a time when the politicians may try to buy their votes with promises of special favors, perhaps even the hope of a little ready cash drained from the public till by a special valve labeled Air Raid Wardens Only. No. Others Need Apply. But the wardens will be steadfast. They will be firm. They did nothing, they want nothing.

Snakes of Ohio

Ohio has 25 species of snakes, only three of them venomous, according to Roger Conant, Philadelphia zoologist who is author of "The Reptiles of Ohio."

The scientific names for Ohio's poisonous snakes are the agkistrodon mokasen, the sistrurus catenatus catenatus and the crotalus horridus horridus. In everyday language that means copperhead, massaugua or swamp rattler, and timber rattler. Ohio also has four kinds of turtles and 10 species of lizards.

Many believe they have seen water moccasins in southern Ohio but they are wrong, according to Mr. Conant. "Water snakes are almost always aggressive," he says, "and the experienced collector wears leather gloves to protect his hands. They bite viciously and the large ones are capable of producing deep scratches. Their pugnaciousness causes them to be known locally as water moccasins, but the true venomous water moccasin (agkistrodon piscivorus) of the southern states has not been found as far north as Ohio."

Epworth Church Repairs Progressing

VIEW OF EPWORTH METHODIST CHURCH

The first step in an elaborate six-point $125,000 repairing, remodeling and redecorating program being undertaken by Epworth Methodist church is rapidly nearing completion according to Dr. V. E. Busler, pastor of the church.

Complete repair of the church's roof and gutters, painting of the frame work, grill work and belfry, repair of the art glass window's, and resetting of the church's bell, are among the many repairing jobs which have either already been recently completed or are nearing completion at this time.

Work on the other steps in Epworth's ambitious building program, which will extend over a three-year period, will include the redecoration of the interior of the church and the Sunday school rooms; remodeling of the basement to contain new classrooms, a modern receration and dining room; installation of a modern kitchen; installation of a new pipe organ; and the rearrangement and remodeling of the pulpit and choir loft for better acoustical advantage so as to afford better reception of vocal sound and greater enjoyment of church music.

Each job on the six-point building program will be undertaken as the necessary money is raised among the church's 800 active church families and 1900 active members. The decorating and repair committee which is in charge of raising money for Epworth's building fund and directing the church's building program is composed of the following members: Harold Grigsby, Earl Smart, John Waddell, Edgar Barnhart, Jack Danner, Hoover Brown, Miss Reta VanMeter, E. J. Oliphant, Howard Swink, J. J. Stafford, Mrs. W. E. Miley, Merle Hamilton, Robert Bush, A. W. Kette and Paul Dasher.

Charles F. Cellarius of Cincinnati is the architect in charge of the building program.

Medical Check-Ups Advised for Men Over 40.

Every man over forty who sees this article should take the time to read it and so should his wife if he is fortunate enough to have one. It may be the means of saving his life.

Most women have learned the importance of periodic examinations of the breast so that, if cancer of the breast occurs, it can be diagnosed early enough to permit a cure. But men seem unaware of the dangers cancer of the prostate gland holds for them in spite of the fact that cancer in this area occurs in one out of every five men who live to the age of 50 or beyond.

Today, this type of cancer takes a terrible and needless toll of life because, if the condition is diagnosed early enough, most cases can be cured by removal of the prostate gland. To wait, however, until actual symptoms such as pain, discomfort, or blocking of the flow of urine occur, is to invite disaster. By that time the cancer is almost sure to be far advanced.

Early discovery can be assured only by periodic examination. By means of examination through the rectum, the doctor can tell when changes in the gland, such as hardening or swelling, have occurred, long before the patient himself would be aware of them. It is the opinion of many specialists that when such swelling or hardening is detected, a small bit of tissue from the gland should be removed and examined at once under a microscope to determine if cancer is present.

If cancer is occurring, complete removal of the gland may be carried out at once, and, in this way, a cure of the condition almost always is brought about.

If cancer of the prostate gland is diagnosed too late to permit the operative removal, there are certain treatments which seem to be of value.

One consists of the giving of glandular extracts known as estrogens which come from the female sex gland.

Removal of the male sex glands in elderly persons is also useful, since both of these measures seem to bring about a decrease in the size of the tumor growth. However, in many instances, the improvement may only be of short duration.

The important thing to remember is that the early diagnosis of cancer of the prostate may result in a complete cure, and such early diagnosis is only possible if middle aged and elderly men have regular examinations carried out twice yearly.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Nervous Mother: Is there a new drug for the cure of goitre instead of operation in a person 55 years of age?

Answer: There is a drug known as thiouracil which is used in the treatment of so-called ingrown goitre; however, in many cases it may not produce a cure, although it does bring improvement so that operation may be more safely carried out.

Of course, this preparation should be used only under the direction of the physician.

Some Perils of Freedom

A Sermonette

By DR. V. E. BUSLER

Pastor of Epworth Methodist Church.

Acts 22:28—"But I was free born."

FREEDOM is a boon to a human being. Freedom is a dangerous thing. I can say both in the same sentence. Paul was in a difficult spot. He was mobbed by the Jews. He was making a defense. Ready to be bound and scourged. Then he thinks of one magic sentence that will turn the trick. "I am a Roman." "Do you dare to do this to a man of Roman citizenship?" The Centurion was frightened and hastened to tell the chief captain to handle this man with care since he is a Roman citizen. The captain tells Paul that he paid a great price to become a Roman citizen to which Paul replies, "But I was freeborn." I am concerned about this freedom of ours. It has its deadly perils and I want to bring some of them before you today.

I. It Is Easy To Use Freedom For The Lesser Things of Life.

Though we are not pleased with what we do, we want to do as we please. Society may be injured. Tragedy may result to many of our fellowmen. The human family is bent on using its freedom though it debases the body and the whole of society. Our prisons, our penal institutions are full and overflowing because thousands wanted to use their freedom to do as they please regardless.

We have come to the place in our living when the load of those who use their freedom for destruction is becoming too heavy for the other share of freedom lovers to carry. This means the decline and fall of our people.

II. The Second Peril That We Would Discuss Is That of Indifference. Simply Not Use Our Great Freedoms.

The ideals of a community will rise no higher than the interest manifested by the people who worship together in the churches week after week. This community will never be any better than our actual church attendance interest. You can make every excuse that you wish to ameliorate your conscience when you are absent from church but these excuses make you no better as a Christian citizen. We are free to choose in our land as no other place our freedom to worship. One of the major tragedies of this hour is that this freedom is in peril because we do not use it. At no time do we have half of our people in the church or Sunday school. At no time are half of the church members of the U. S. in church unless it would be Easter and that is doubtful.

The peril of freedom is the peril of negation. "Do nothing" "Be nothing." "And all this by a deliberate choice."

III. Another Peril of Freedom Is Abuse of Personality.

Turn to the story of the parables. The lord of the servants went on a long journey. Each man who had received began to think about the use of his talents. The man with five gained five. The man with two gained two. The man with one just did nothing. He was frightened with one talent. Too much emphasis cannot be placed on the man who absolutely refuses to use his one talent. But you will notice the story says that the man who has the most will have more given to him. He had ten talents then it was doubled again. It Requires a Lot of Manhood to Control an Arithmetical Progression. It takes more than most people have. The civilizations that have lived are those that have the least number of those who dissipate their freedom or such a strong minority that will not dissipate that keep the others in line. But We Are Becoming Top Heavy Now.

IV. Our Whole Freedom Being "Sold Down the River."

If I elaborate upon this there are people who will accuse the preacher of making a political speech. But I must live with my conscience forever. We have been taught that we must be Good Samaritans. The fallen, the oppressed, the political refugees, to all of our brethren everywhere, I am going to continue to give to the missionary enterprises of the church and of society as long as I live.

But the time is here when we dare have the acumen and the political courage to discern between a mangled body on the highway of life and a leech in the form of some state that would unite with others to sap our great resource, lessen our morale, corrupt our morals, laugh at our democracy, live upon our capitalistic system while at the same time biting the hand that feeds them.

"I am free born." From my great grand sire who fought to free us from Great Britain down through the decades, my farbears have struggled to keep that freedom and maintain a greater freedom. I would be most ungrateful if I shirked any part of my obligation to keep this freedom.

BAPTIST SOCETY MEETS WITH MRS. SANDERSON

The Missionary Society of Flie Memorial Baptist church was entertained Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Leona Sanderson on Davids street. Eighteen members responded to roll call by giving a verse of scripture from the book of Exodus. A report was made that the White Cross quota was filled, both by the society and members of the Guild, and that two "CARE" packages had been sent to Europe to aid families there.

A letter from the Kodiak Mission in Alaska was read and one from the Baptist home in Cleveland. Devotions were conducted by Mrs. Fred Porter and prayer was by Mrs. Mary Simpkins. For the program hour, Mrs. Robert A. Maugans gave the story of the life of John and Betty Stan, missionaries in China, who were murdered while doing work in that country. Mrs. Alice Bruerd of Raymond was a guest. Plans were made for a Christmas exchange to be held at the next meeting.

Owners of Brick Homes Get Instructions on Upkeep and Repair of Walls

YOUR HOME TODAY and TOMORROW

by W. Wadsworth Wood

When you look at a brick house these days, it is a question whether you are looking at a real brick wall or a brick-veneered wall. There is a world of difference between the two.

The solid brick wall is made of two thicknesses of brick as illustrated, and presents quite an amount of real structural value. The two thicknesses are arranged so that the joint in the outside courses butts against the middle of the brick of the inside courses. This results in a construction which forces moisture to travel in a round-about manner in order to get through the wall. When the joints between the bricks are full and well-trowled off, the moisture cannot get through.

On the other hand, a brick-veneered wall is simply one thickness of brick, backed up by water-proofed paper, and supported by a wood frame. In order to keep this one thickness of brick in proper place, metal clamps known as anchors are spiked to the wood frame and built into the brick as shown.

The procedure for keeping either a solid or a veneered brick wall in proper shape is very much the same. The first step is to see that all joints between the bricks are full and solid. The average man can inspect a wall in about 15 minutes. Where you see an obvious defect in the joint, it should be dusted out, well wetted, and refilled with a mixture of sand and cement. Where the joints appear to be full but loose, they should be firmed up with an application of colorless water-proofing paint. This will tighten them and bind them together so that they will not fall out or admit moisture.

In many cases, a wall will leak because the brick itself is very porus although the joints are plainly full and solid. This calls for a good over-all coat of water-proofing paint, which will fill the pores and make the wall water-proof.

Failure of a brick wall, either solid or veneered, starts with a small defect which admits the weather and allows it to go to work behind the face of the brick. When the face is solid and water-proof, the wall will last indefinitely.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—

Paint Peeling Off Wall

Q: The paint is peeling off our kitchen wall. Could you suggest a paint remover and what to use on the plaster to prevent a recurrence?

A: Paint usually peels because of moisture behind the paint film or else the paint might have been applied over a greasy surface. A good remover can be made by dissolving three pounds of trisodium phosphate (buy at a large paint store or get it at a grocery store under a trade name) in each gallon of hot water. Apply liberally on the paint and, when soft, remove it with a scraping knife or steel wool. Rinse off all traces of solution with plenty of clear water and let the plaster dry thoroughly before refinishing. You could repaint with two coats of enamel undercoater and a finish coat of enamel. Do not use flat paint or calcimine. A glossy surface will be resistant to grease and moisture.

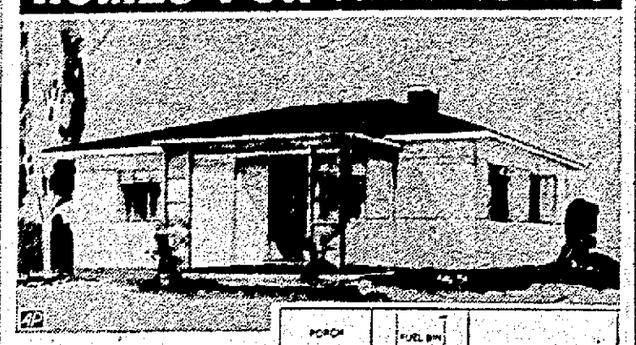
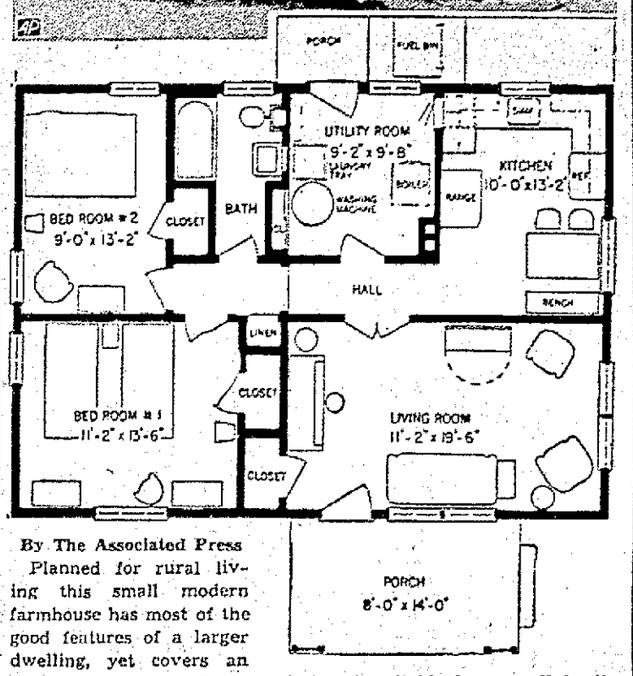
HOMES FOR AMERICANS





By The Associated Press

Planned for rural living this small modern farmhouse has most of the good features of a larger dwelling, yet covers an area of only about 925 square feet. It is suitable for a small family or for a tenant house on a large farm. Designed by agricultural engineers, architects and home economists of the U. S. Department of agriculture, its working drawings may be obtained through county agricultural agents.

Plans are free in some states and in others only a nominal charge for printing is made. Where county agent cannot supply plans the U. S. Department of Agriculture, Division of Farm Buildings and Rural Housing, Beltsville, Md., will advise as to the nearest state handling the plan.

This design is identified as Exchange Plan No. 7012. It calls for no basement, heating plant being located in the utility room. Wood frame construction would be standard, but the working drawings have been developed so that masonry, stucco, or aluminum siding can be substituted.

GEN. MEYERS, NOW retired, said he was flabbergasted when he tried to pay his bill. The hotel cashier said he couldn't—because Hughes already had taken care of it. His wife was staying over an extra day, the general continued earnestly, and he told her to make dead certain she paid Hughes or one of his associates the money for the bill, which amounted to around $900 after he'd disclaimed a parlor for which he was charged, but didn't use.

As he talked, in strode the portly Johnny, publicist for Hughes, signer of expense accounts and star witness of preceeding hearings. He wore a black double-breasted suit and a plain gray tie, which made him look like a high undertaker on a business call.

GEN. MEYERS ADDED that when his wife got back to Washington, he asked her she'd paid the money. He said she told him she put it in an envelope and tried to hand it to Johnny. When he wouldn't accept it, he said she slipped it in his pocket.

"Stand back," said Chairman Homer Ferguson of Mich. "I have another witness."

He called Johnny, who blinked in the flashes of the photographers, swore to tell the truth, said he'd heard the testimony and added:

"I swore under oath the first day I was here in the summer that I receive no money from any source for any bill and that same testimony stands today."

Johnny said no more. He got his hat and walked out, ignoring the general. The latter's attorney held a whispered conversation with the senator, who announced that Mrs Meyers was in the room and wanted to testify.

I MUST REPORT, WITH no disrespect intended, that she was a dream walking in a green skirt with the new, long look. She was blonde, blue-eyed and nervous. She said her husband told her to pay back the money and she did, though she had to put up a fight to do it. She said she finally put the envelope with the cash in Johnny's coat pocket. Then she caught her train.

Sen. Herbert R. O'Conor of Md., wondered how come she had $900 in cash; why didn't she pay by check? Mrs. Meyers flushed a little deeper, said the birth of her twins had make it impossible to buy clothes in Washington, and that she took the cash to get dresses in the west. She looked over the stocks, but didn't like 'em. Bought nothing. Still had the money. Gave it to Johnny. "Oh," the senator said.

WASHINGTON

DO YOU want to know why the government ever started "poultryless Thursdays" and then last night abandoned the idea?

Here's an explanation. If, at the end of it, you're more confused than ever, you have nothing on this writer. But here goes.

Some weeks ago President Truman appointed Charles Luckman, a Boston businessman head of a special food committee.

This committee was supposed to work out in a hurry some means of saving about 100,000,000 bushels of grain for Europe.

This is the story told at Luckman's office last night—he was out of town—after that office announced an end to poultryless Thursdays:

Luckman, who's in the soap business, came to Washington with the idea that the best way to save grain was to have a meatless Tuesday and wheatless Thursday every week.

A couple of days after he arrived here he went to a meeting of the President's cabinet food committee.

THIS COMMITTEE was made up of representatives of the secretaries of state, commerce and agriculture departments.

There—remember this story came from Luckman's office—Luckman was told that having a poultryless Thursday was a better way of saving grain than having a wheatless Thursday.

At this point the writer asked the spokesman in Luckman's office. Who at the meeting with the President's food committee suggested the idea of a poultryless Thursday to Luckman?

The answer: Well, the agriculture department was the only one that would know about saving grain. The state and commerce departments wouldn't know.

So Luckman then decided that a meatless Tuesday and a poultryless Thursday would be necessary to save grain.

He announced that as a national program and asked the American people and restaurants to cooperate.

The idea behind all this was as follows:

► Cattle ordinarily eat only grass. But choice cattle are fed grain just before going to market. If the demand for meat is cut down, such as through a meatless Tuesday, fewer cattle will be grain-fed for market. Thus some grain will be saved.

► Chickens eat a lot of grain. By a poultryless Thursday, there'll be less demand for chickens. Therefore, farmers will raise fewer chickens and grain will be saved.

DID ANYBODY KNOW—when Luckman announced the program or even now—how much grain would be saved by a meatless Tuesday and the poultryless Thursday?

No, nobody knows, was the answer at Luckman's office.

But the poultry-raisers began to scream. And it became clear that one side of the poultry picture had been overlooked.

If the demand for chickens was cut down through poultryless Thursday, then the farmers, unable to sell them, would keep them and they'd eat up grain.

So, was grain being saved by poultryless Thursday or was more grain being used by the chickens, which couldn't be sold?

Finally, after a lot of talks with poultry-raisers, Luckman's office said he was satisfied that:

► Poultryless Thursday was no longer necessary because—

► The farmers had promised to reduce their chicken flocks themselves and thereby save about 50,000,000 bushels of grain.

So, for the first time, the government knows how much grain can be saved on chickens. And the poultryless Thursday was abandoned.

THEN THE WRITER called Clinton P. Anderson, secretary of agriculture and asked him.

At the first conference between Luckman and the President's food committee was it someone in your department who sold him on the idea of poultryless Thursday?

"I won't go into that," Mr. Anderson said. "I've been all through that."

"But the question is simple, Mr Anderson. Is the answer 'yes' or 'no'? Did someone in your department sell Luckman the poultryless Thursday idea?"

Mr. Anderson said he would not go into the question.

"Well, then, maybe you'll answer this one. Has anyone in your department or in the government ever known how much grain would be saved by the poultryless Thursday idea?"

Mr. Anderson said: "We knew how much would be saved by the culling process."

"What's the culling process?"

"Getting rid of old hens," Mr. Anderson said.

"But did anyone know how much would be saved by the poultryless Thursdays?"

"We knew how much would be saved by the culling process," Mr. Anderson said. End conversation and end story.

MEET AT GREEN CAMP

At a meeting of the Green Camp Majorettes 4-H club Monday, uniforms for the group were decided on, and projects for raising money were discussed. The next meeting will be at the home of Melvin Seiter, with Betty Longnecker as hostess.

Roving Reports

by Hal Boyle

NEW YORK

I DROPPED over, to a newspaper office to see an old friend, a copy reader who had recently checked himself and his favorite ulcer out a hospital.

"Here I am wasting the best years of my life writing man-bites-wife headlines," he mourned, "and I could be sunning myself for free on the Riviera forever. I am a dope, a double dope."

"That could be just one man's opinion," I soothed him. "What is it this time—a hangover, horses or women?"

"I don't drink," he said, "and a man can't support an ulcer and a bookie, too.

"About 15 years ago I was movie reviewer on another sheet," said the copy mangler. "I would be there still except I found out I was allergic to celluloid. Grade movies probably started my ulcer.

"WELL, ANYWAY. Garbo was knocking them dead at the box office in those days. And Hollywood was bringing over every actress in Europe to try to cash in on the foreign accent craze. Honest, they were ready to dig up Bernhardt at one time.

"Most of them fell flat on their face. One night I interviewed a Viennese kid that had flopped. Beautiful little blond, but her voice test sounded like an egg beater on a windowpane. So they handed her a ticket home.

"She was broke and it was payday for me, so I handed her $50—like that—ten, twenty, thirty, forty, fifty."

"That makes you one dope," I said. "But you said you were a double dope."

"Well, for 15 years I never heard from her. But the other night she called me. Said she'd send her car around. One of those chromium jobs so long you have to throw a rock at the chauffeur when you want him to turn.

"This blond lived in a Park avenue apartment. The kind with a view of the Grand Central. She'd a play part up some, but still was somberly it. Later we talked a while she said:

"I HAVE NEVER FORGOTTEN that $50 you gave me. All those years I have remembered it as the kindest thing in my life. I will never give it back to you—that $50.

"But if there is anything else you want, you can have it. If it costs $50,000 or $100,000, it makes no difference. That means less to me now than $50 then."

"She was just a malarkey artist," I said. "I'll bet she had moths in her mink."

"No," said the copy reader. "She meant it. She married one of those Europeans who play marbles with coal mines and steel factories. She got out her checkbook, and said, 'Dear friend, let me help you to any happiness I can, and I got to thinking about my hospital bills and said, 'All right, make it out for $50.'

"But she said, 'No, not that I want to get you anything money will buy, but just to repay you the $50 would leave me still forever in your debt.'

"Well, I saw what she meant, but for me to take more than the $50 would . . . .' He didn't finish the sentence.

"I am a double dope," he said.

Coal was used in the United States shortly after the Revolutionary war, but it was not marketed widely until development of the railroads about 100 years ago.

This official, who sat in on recent top policy discussions, said the government's price would be "slightly above" current market prices. The increase, he said, might be as little as one cent a pound.

By The United Press

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Nov. 8—The United Auto Workers, (CIO), was urged today to build a $5,000,000 "fight fund" for repeal of the Taft-Hartley act.

The appeal by George Addes, UAW secretary-treasurer, came as the union's 22-man executive board met in preparation for a week-long convention, opening tomorrow and expected to be spiced with a battle for control of the powerful CIO unit.

Addes said at a press conference last night that once employers start using "the powers given them under the Taft-Hartley act," the union's recent struggles to protest living standards "will dwarf into insignificance."

He predicted that the "real onslaught will come soon and it would be disastrous if our union was unprepared."

"If we are to stop the Tafts, the Hartleys and the employers from destroying our union, we had better start now to prepare for the battle," Addes said.

The convention itself will be a test of power between President Walter P. Reuther and the man he deposed, R. J. Thomas, now a vice president.

One of the main points of contention will be whether to sign non-Communist affidavits under the Taft-Hartley act. Reuther favors signing, but the Thomas forces, led by Addes, oppose it.

dent and confirmed by the senate.

The committee did not specify how many directors there should be but several members said there was strong sentiment for an eight-man board.

The committee pointed out that congressional control over the board "would be maintained by the regular review of its funds and operations." In other words, congress could abolish it any time by failing to finance it.

Except for food, fuel and fertilizers, which would be handled through the proposed corporation, the committee recommended that the export-import bank and the international bank for reconstruction and development meet requirements of foreign nations for capital goods, equipment and raw materials.

NEW PARIS STRIKE FORMS

By International News Service

PARIS, Nov. 8—Paris, seriously affected by walkouts of nearly 95 per cent of its essential public services employes, was threatened today with a new strike by its food distributors. The food wholesalers and retailers threatened to stop work after refusing to comply with the new price-posting regulations which they regard as "vexatious and limiting the full freedom of trade."

3 ACCIDENTS LISTED IN MARION TRAFFIC

Three minor accidents in which no injuries were reported occurred late Friday and early Saturday, according to the police report. The first was at North Main street and Fairground street at 5:33 p. m. Friday, involving cars driven by Lorene Bussey, 23, of 372 North Prospect street and Walter D. Byrd, 53, of Royal Oak, Mich. The Claypool car, skidded into the Morris car which was making a left turn off of Center street into True avenue. Wet leaves on the street were given as cause of the skid. Both vehicles were slightly damaged.

The third accident involved trucks driven by Eugene B. Lehman, 22, of 155 Garden street and Posy S. Holland, 57, of Huntington, W. Va. and occurred early today in West Center street at Blaine avenue. Top Rate Comedy At Palace Theater

"The Bachelor and the Bobby-Soxer," rated as one of the gayest romantic comedies in years, co-stars Cary Grant, Myrna Loy and Shirley Temple in a story of a high-school girl's infatuation for a famous artist. The film will be shown Sunday through Wednesday at the Palace theater.

Added attractions will include a Tom and Jerry technicolor cartoon, "The Invisible Mouse," and the latest news.

The story of an artist who becomes involved in romantic complications with a woman jurist and her bobby-sox sister has Cary Grant in the role of the artist, Myrna Loy as the woman judge, and Shirley Temple as the enthusiastic teen-ager.

Shirley becomes infatuated with Grant in a big way when he delivers a lecture at her high school, and decides to bring herself to his attention by going to his apartment, where she falls asleep. The artist finds her there early in the morning and is about to take her home when the judge appears and misunderstands the situation.

A double feature, "Golden Earrings" and "Adventure Island," have been billed for Thursday through Saturday.

The former, starring Ray Milland and Marlene Dietrich, was adapted from a best-selling novel of the same name and tells a love story of a seductive gypsy and an attractive man-of-the-world. It concerns the adventures of a top-ranking British officer who, in eluding his Nazi pursuers in the Romany forests, comes upon a Hungarian gypsy woman. The woman offers to help him, disguises him as a gypsy, and then proceeds to make him fall in love with her.

"Adventure Island," photographed in color and based on Robert Louis Stevenson's greatest adventure novel, "Ebb Tide," stars Rory Calhoun, Rhonda Fleming and Paul Kelly.

It tells the story of three beachcombers who steal a sailing ship carrying a valuable cargo and a beautiful stowaway. Running short of provisions, they put into an uncharted island, finding it to contain a treasure held by a mad Englishman who rules the natives. Two of the trio plot to murder the madman, but are instead killed by him.

"Nightmare Alley," a screen filmization of the sensational best-selling novel by William Lindsay Gresham, is now playing through Thursday at the Ohio theater. Tyrone Power is cast in the starring role with Joan Blondell, Coleen Gray and Helen Walker in principal supporting parts.

The film unfolds the story of Stan Carlisle's start as a mentalist in a cheap carnival, his success as "The Great Stanton," star attraction of swanky night clubs and parties, his sensational rise in the "spook racket" and his final gamble for the one big "killing."

Tyrone Power is seen in the role of Stan Carlisle, the young carnival mentalist who is prepared to betray anyone in his desire for power over men's lives and women's hearts. Joan Blondell is Zeena, the mind reader, who doesn't suspect that Stan is interested in her only for the secrets of her act. Coleen Gray is Molly, and Helen Walker is Dr. Lilith Ritter, who waits for the moment she can turn the tables on Stan.

A Ronald Reagan-Shirley Temple co-starring porduction, "That Hagen Girl," is billed to open Friday and run for seven days.

IRISH HIT INDIANS, 19-0; PREXIES BOP STREAKS, 40-0

St. Mary Wins Mid-State Crown In Season Closer with Mt. Gilead.

By BILL DIEM

The fighting Irish of St. Mary won their first Mid-State league championship last night by blitzing the Mt. Gilead Indians, 19-0, on the muddy Harding gridiron.

Going into the final quarter with but a 6-0 lead, the Irish took to the air and connected for two touchdowns—from Baldauf to Schuler and from Schuler to Ed Moloney.

Yesterday evening's rain made the center of the field a quagmire, but failed to dampen the Irish drive which gained 130 net yards rushing to the Indians' 83, nor did the dampness hamper the Irish aerials which connected for 78 yards.

Fetter Gets Shower

The jubilant Irish gridders gave Coach Gene Fetter a man-made shower after the game and St. Mary managers got the same treatment. Assistant coaches Forest Sharrock and Martin Lewis ducked out before the mud-splattered Irish could get to them.

Quarterback Dick Schuler was the big gun in the Irish attack, setting up the first touchdown early in the opening period when he cut through tackle and dashed 46 yards to the Indian three before being caught. In the final period, Schuler caught a pass and tossed one for two more tallies.

After moving to the three in the first touchdown drive, fullback John Baldauf plunged over for the score, but Dick Werley's kick for the extra point was wide.

Indian Attack Stalls

The Indians took the kickoff and got down to St. Mary's 30 before their attack stalled and Nelson Campbell punted. The kick was partially blocked and only went five yards from scrimmage.

St. Mary marched back to the Mt. Gilead 25, but a 15-yard holding penalty and an intercepted pass killed the threat.

After an exchange of punts, Mt. Gilead's triple-threater Nelson Campbell passed and lugged the ball to the St. Mary 33 but the half-time gun cut off the drive.

Neither team could advance far in the early part of the second half, but a few minutes before the quarter ended Joe Maniaci, Dick Werley and the rest of the Irish line charged in as Campbell tried a punt on his own 25, and the punt was blocked to set up another touchdown drive.

Ed Murphy, Baldauf and Schuler marched to the 12, but another 15-yard holding penalty moved the Irish back to the 29. Schuler's short pass to Ed Moloney picked up nine yards, and at fourth down and nine, John Baldauf tossed a long pass to Schuler good for the final 20 yards. Schuler plunged for the extra point.

Schuler Intercepts Pass

Schuler intercepted a Mt. Gilead pass a few minutes later to set up the final score. Starting on the Indian 44 the Irish took to the air again for a pay-off downfield advance. Schuler tossed to Baldauf for nine yards, and Baldauf sent a hot one back to Schuler for nine more. After picking up a first down on the 21, Schuler chucked a long one to end Ed Moloney near the goal, and Moloney stepped over to score. Again Werley's try was wide.

Nelson Campbell played a great game for the Indians and was easily their best player. Up until the final quarter, the game was anybody's, and the blocked punt and pass interception made the difference.

Sophomore Ed Moloney who started the season as a manager, will be St Mary's hope next year. Ed played a lot of defense last night and made a couple of nice pass catches. He and Kevin Krigbaum are the only two Irish regulars who will be back next year. Nine of the starting lineup are seniors and played their last game last night—Jim Moloney, Dan Smith, Joe Maniaci, Dick Werley, Tom Wagner, Dick Schuler, Ed Murphy, John Baldauf and John Granger. Bob Stuber, an Irish regular until injured a few weeks ago, is also a senior.

The Irish get gold footballs for winning the league championship and Coach Gene Fetter presented each of them a watch chain on which to wear them. Fetter, mighty happy to win the championship for the first time, will start to work on his basketball players next week for another league championship.

PENN-VIRGINIA GAME TO ATTRACT 78,000

Tops Expected Army-Notre Dame Gate.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—While college football's greatest attraction—Army vs. Notre Dame—is ending its 34-year run in the glare of the national spotlight at South Bend today, there are any number of other five-star grid shows scheduled to play before sellout houses.

The country's eight major unbeaten and untied elevens all are due for action.

Topping the Irish-Cadet clash at the gate is the meeting of Penn and Virginia, both unbeaten, before an expected 78,000 at Franklin Field in Philadelphia.

Another undefeated record goes on the line at Baltimore, where Georgia Tech, boasting six straight, tangles with a never-say-die Navy team. Penn State, leading team in the land both offensively and defensively, risks its unbeaten slate of six against Temple's Owls at Philadelphia.

Notre Dame's principal headline competitor in the midwest as well as in the nation, Michigan—they have been running one-two in the weekly poll of sports writers—is favored over Indiana in an Ann Arbor engagement that likely will send the all-victorious Wolverines to the Big Nine championship and the Rose Bowl.

In the southwest, Doak Walker and his Southern Methodist Mustangs were favored to gain their seventh triumph in as many starts by taking over Texas A. and M. On the coast, Southern California's once-tied Trojans figured to move closer to the Rose Bowl with a victory over staggering Stanford.

Another unbeaten and untied, Utah, was favored to continue its string by taking Colorado A. and M.

Top attraction in the south is Missouri's invasion of Durham to face Duke.

In the Big Nine, Wisconsin meets Iowa at Madison; Purdue plays at Minnesota and Ohio State engages Northwestern. Nebraska-Kansas and Kansas State-Oklahoma are the Big Six pairings.

Harvard and Princeton open the Big Three round-robin at Cambridge.

Upper Sandusky Beats Carey, 6-0 in Closer

Special to The Star

CAREY, Nov. 8—The Upper Sandusky Rams defeated Carey here last night in the annual battle between the two Wyandot county teams, 6 to 0. The victory gave the Rams an undefeated season and Carey finished with a record of five wins and four losses.

Upper won the contest with a touchdown in the second quarter when halfback Kent climaxed a drive with a 15 yard end run. The Carey team got close to the Rams' goal on two occasions but did not have the power to go into scoring territory.

Carey will open the basketball season here Dec. 2 with Marysville, in a Mid-State league game.

STYMIE GETS VACATION

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—The old saying that "horses are smarter than people" could well be applied today to Stymie, who with $816,060 in the bank, can't see the need of running any more this season. The rags-to-riches six-year-old son of Equestrian was to have finished out the New York season before going to the farm, but trainer Hirsch Jacobs said yesterday that Stymie was passing up the two remaining Empire City stakes for which he had been nominated

RICHWOOD WINS, 7-6 IN SUNBURY MUD

Officials Can't Tell Who's Who in Quagmire.

Richwood eked out a 7 to 6 win over Sunbury on the losers mud-covered field last night and ended the season with a record of five won, three lost and one tied.

Officials had a difficult time last night distinguishing the players of each team as it was necessary to ask the player which team he was on following each pile up.

The game was scoreless until the third period when Richwood made a sustained drive down the field and Chapman plunged over from the three yard line. In trying to rush the ball over for the extra point Cheney fumbled but the ball was recovered across the goal line by McElroy for the extra point.

Sunbury scored late in the final session by use of a spread play from the Richwood 45. With the crowd on the field a Richwood tackler tried to run the ball carrier out of bounds and thought he had succeeded but it was found later that the player had still been inbounds following the reception of a pass.

The Sunbury team tried to buck the ball over for the extra point and ran the ball at Woods, but the Richwood tackle stopped the play at the line of scrimmage.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Is your hair silver? Your teeth gold? Are your eyes bleary? Do you remember when the "Big Three" provided the top football games in the nation?

That's just a reminder that the Big Three still is in existence and playing pretty good amateur football—as today's Harvard-Princeton tussle may prove . . . And that all the tradition and background and color of intercollegiate football goes right back to Princeton, Yale and Harvard and a few other colleges that played in the 1870's . . . Where else could you find old grads turning out for the "big" game and reminiscing about the bygone glories of Walter Camp, A. A. Stagg, Frank Hinkey, the Poe brothers, Snake Ames, Frank Hallowell, Tack Hardwick, Charley Brickley, etc.? . . . Heck, this Army-Notre Dame affair everyone is talking about today is just a Johnny-come-lately series that began in 1913.

SPEAKING OF Army vs. Notre Dame, this department can't quite fathom the reasoning that the Irish have had a tough schedule and the Cadets a soft one . . . Tossing out the two admittedly tough games, Army has faced Villanova which has lost only one other game; Washington and Lee, co-leader of the Southern conference, disappointing V. P. I., and Colorado, still in the running for the Big Seven title . . . Among Notre Dame's rivals, Pitt, Iowa and Navy have won one major game apiece and Nebraska has beaten two comparatively weak sisters, Purdue has looked good lately but not until after holding the Irish to a 15-point margin.

Crestline Ends Third In N.O.L.; Beats Shelby

Special to The Star

CRESTLINE, Nov. 8—Crestline finished third in the Northern Ohio league with an 18-7 victory over Shelby here last night in a contest played in a sea of mud and a downpour of rain.

The Railroaders scored in the opening quarter on a reverse play with Sands galloping 40 yards into pay dirt. Tom Linn tallied a few moments later on a line buck from the six-yard line. Both conversions failed.

The Whippets scored in the second period with a trap play from the 35-yard line. They converted on a line buck. Crestline had the ball on the Shelby one-yard line when the half ended.

The third Crestline touchdown crossed the double stripe for his second time of the game. This time he went over from the five.

Dykes was unusually calm that day, even though several decisions went against his team. However, toward the end of the game, Dykes paused at the plate and asked Umpire Red Ormsby:

"Annihilate Army" Sounds As Irish Prepare for Fight

By The Associated Press

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Nov. 8—Notre Dame's fighting Irish, who have been sounding Tarzan-throated battle cries of "Annihilate Army!" during practices this week, went forth on the gridiron to try and do it today.

Concluding a bitterly-fought rivalry started in 1913, the 34th meeting held promise of a knock-down, drag-out scrap with both high-pitched teams unleashing all their artillery.

The tense, undefeated Irish, anxious to wipe out memories of the 59-0 and 48-0 wallopings they took from the war-time powerful Cadets in 1944 and 1945, were keyed as seldom before. Army, too, was ready.

The game is the first between the two rivals to be held in South Bend. An overflow crowd of 59,000 spectators was ready to be in on the kill.

Johnny Lujack, who has pitched five touchdowns for the Irish and completed 42 of 74 passes for a net gain of 561 yards in victories over Pittsburgh, Purdue, Nebraska, Iowa and Navy, keynoted a gigantic rally last night.

More than 9,000 Notre Dame faithful jammed the fieldhouse and yelled themselves hoarse. During drills this week, the Irish chanted their "Annihilate Army" cry in huddles and whenever they met off the field. At the rally, Lujack told the crowd: "We're in for the roughest, toughest afternoon in football history."

Both Earl Blaik, coach of once-beaten, once-tied Army, and Frank Leahy, Irish coach, were hoping for a dry gridiron today to display effective passing and running attacks. A cold rain pelted down yesterday, but tarpaulins protected the field and there was no forecast of rain today.

Findlay Runs Rampant; Hits Wilmington 26-0

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8—Findlay college trounced Wilmington, 26-0, last night and moved into a first-place tie with Denison in the Ohio conference.

Denison tangles with Capital here today and can move in front again with a victory. Denison and Findlay each have three conference victories against no defeats.

Findlay ran up 20 points in the first quarter, taking advantage of two Wilmington fumbles and a blocked punt to set up the scores.

Wittenberg collected an Ohio conference win, sinking Ashland 24 to 0 in a sea of mud. Herb Brown intercepted an Ashland pass in the final minute, going 37 yards to score. Other Tiger touchdowns came from short plunges by Herb King, Dick Pearson and Gene Hamman.

Heidelberg's Student Princes rolled 62 to 0 over Assumption college of Windsor, Ontario. Paul Devine sprinted 22 yards for the first touchdown in the first minute of play and the rout was underway three minutes later when Dick Butdorf tallied from the 18.

Ohio games today:

Denison at Capital, Ohio Northern at Muskingum, Akron at Wooster, all in the Ohio conference; Dayton at Miami, Bluffton at Defiance, and Ohio Wesleyan at Ohio university.

BETTING BOYS GIVE BUCKS 6 POINT LEAD

O.S.U. To Meet Northwestern in Big 9 Cellar Clash.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8—Two brand new Big Nine coaches battle it out for the Western conference cellar position today before some 73,000 paying customers as Ohio State's badly-battered Bucks clash with Northwestern's not-too-bewildering Wildcats.

The Bucks, coached by Wesley E. Fesler, have won one and tied one while losing four, while Bob Voight's Northwestern's have won two and dropped four, so only the cellar position in the loop is at stake before the practically sell-out crowd.

Fesler didn't show up at a pre-game press conference last night, but Ohio Athletic director Dick Larkins said: "We'd be glad to win this one by a single point." And Voights, after accompanying his squad to a movie, declared in all seriousness: "Ohio looks pretty tough to us. If we can win by a point we'll be lucky, but I don't see how we can do it."

Oddly enough, the Bucks who haven't scored a point in their last two games, against Pittsburgh and Indiana, were installed as six-point favorites by the betting boys who probably were influenced by the fact that six foes have torn through the Wildcats for 160 points.

Kickoff is at 2 p. m. (EST).

WESTERVILLE WHIPS MARYSVILLE, 30-0

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, Nov. 7—Westerville pushed an outplayed Marysville eleven around for 273 yards by pure rushing here last night and chalked up a score of 30 to 0.

The best gains that Marysville could make was 56 yards by passing. One first down and three yards was the Marysville record for rushing. Twenty-six more yards were rushed backwards as the heavier Westerville team pushed them back for loss after loss.

Scoring in every quarter after successive long drives of 80, 35, 35 and 40 yards. Smith and Witt both, plunged over the chalked stripes for touchdowns from the one-yard line, and Moore drove over from the four and Clapman from the three.

Final score came in the last few minutes of play as a harried Marysville eleven took to the air.

McGuire, attempting to pass from his own 25-yard line, was caught behind the line of scrimmage and thrown for a 10-yard loss. Back to the wall, McGuire took to the air again and this time was caught behind the goal line for a safety and the final score on the Westerville powerhouse.

The Marysville record stands now at three won, four lost, and two tied.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 8—Barberton's Magics stuck right up at the top of Ohio's High school football parade last night with a 26-12 victory over Massillon's Tigers, and were a cinch to retain their spot as the state's No. 1 scholastic squad.

It was Massillon's third straight loss as the Barberton crew, coached by Harry Strobel, displayed its superiority over the northeastern Ohio sector's powerhouse.

Joining the mighty Magics in the nine-victory class were Gallipolis, 26-7 victor over Wellston; Columbus West, a 20-0 winner over Columbus South; Upper Sandusky, with a 6-0 victory over Carey; Salem, which nosed out Canton Timken 7-6; Conneaut, with a 26-13 conquest of Millcreek, Pa.; Piqua 14-12 winner over Lima Central; Grandview, with a 12-0 win over Upper Arlington, and Orrville, 31-6 winner over Wooster.

Harding Explodes on Muddy Turf To Take Helpless Sandusky.

Special to The Star

SANDUSKY, Nov. 8—Marion Harding's Presidents exploded here last night on the muddy turf of Strobel field and roared over the helpless Sandusky Blue Streaks, 40-0, before a scant crowd of 2,000.

Fullback Dick Huddle tallied two touchdowns, halfback Jim Coss, fullback Clarence Smith, end Gene Peadon and halfback Dick Gherman each went over once as the red hot Prexies scored in all but the first stanza Gherman added four points by drop kicking.

After a scoreless first canto, which saw the Streaks drive down to the 34 where the Marion line held for downs as the gun sounded. The first play of the second quarter, saw Coss fake a lateral to Smith, and then break over the Sandusky line and race 66 yards for pay dirt. Gherman dropkicked the point. Score, 7-0.

The Presidents started a drive later in the second period from their own 40, high lighted with a 26 yard sprint by Smith on a fake punt play. Then with Smith, Coss and Letfler packing the oval the Prexies drove to the 20. Smith then took a lateral from Coss and whipped around his left end down to the two yard marker before being bounced out of bounds. Huddle drove over the middle for the six-pointer. Gherman's dropkick was good and Marion led at the half, 14-0.

Huddle took the ball midway in the third period on his own 25 and with a beautiful block thrown by Coss that sprung him in the clear, he galloped 75 yards into pay-land. Gherman dropped his third straight through the uprights making it 21-0.

A few seconds later Tom McGory faded back to pass for the streaks and fumbled with center Merle Daum pouncing on the ball down on the Sandusky 15 yard stripe. On a third down and 14 to go count, Coss faded and tossed to end Jack Bishop who was knocked to the ground and interference ruled giving Marion the ball on the one yard stripe On the next play Smith dove over the line for a score Joe Camella and Bill Smith broke through to block Gherman's attempted drop kick Score, 27-0.

Center Bob Short recovered a Blue Streak fumble to start the final chapter on the Sandusky 20. Smith picked up three, Jim Hill, four, Gherman 3 and then Coss broke away for nine putting the ball on the one foot line. Gherman stepped over for the score. Gherman's kick was good and the score was 34-0.

A McGory to Don Cottey pass and then a lateral to Smith resulted in a fumble with tackle Dick Upton recovering on the Marion 43 for the Prexies. Hill got away for a nice 18 yard run and Gherman scooted for 21 on a lateral. With the ball on the 15, fourth down and eight to go, Coss faded back to the 30 and heaved a spiral to Peadon who stood alone in the end zone for the final Marion touchdown with three minutes left in the game Gherman's try for point was not good leaving the final score, 40-0.

KENTON LOSES, 14-8 TO BELLEFONTAINE

Special to The Star

KENTON, Nov. 8—The Kenton Wildcats finished the season here last night by losing to Bellefontaine, 14-8, while playing without the services of Decker their passing ace, who was injured in practice Thursday.

Bellefontaine scored a touchdown in the opening period when Johns went around end on a 48-yard run. Dearweter kicked the extra point.

Kenton recovered a fumble deep in the visitors territory in the second stanza and Houdinscnild bucked over from the one yard line. The Wildcats had several opportunities to score in the third session as they kept the play in Belletontaine territory but lacked the drive to take the ball across the goal line.

In the final period a sustained drive by Bellefontaine featuring end runs by Johns and linebucks by Williams took the ball to the Kenton one yard line and Williams went over for the score Dearweter again kicked the extra point.

Late in the final stanza the Wildcats backed the visitors to the goal line and went through to spear the ball carrier for a safety.

The loss gave the Wildcats a season record of 4 wins, 4 losses and a tie. The four victories were registered in the first four games of the season.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"OH, Aunt Madge," Olina said, chokingly, "you never can know what that means to me! And, knowing you, I am sure it is as good as done. Mary and Noel will be present at my wedding, and that completes my happiness."

There appeared to be nothing but joyous relief in her voice, and I wondered if my imagination had been responsible for my impression that she wanted Mary at her wedding because she could not be certain until she saw Mary and Georges together, that her royal play-boy fiance had put aside forever his romantic ideas about Mary, to whom he once had been betrothed.

That made no difference to me, I reminded myself sharply. I must deal only with the surface of things, with what she chose to tell me.

But her next question disconcerted me.

"Does Mary or Noel know of Georges' return?" she asked.

"Not yet," I told her, devoutly praying that Noel would not return to the living room before I could send her from it. "But, I improvised, "I think I shall tell Noel now, if you do not mind. Then I can tell Mary later. She is sound asleep now."

"That is a very good idea," she approved. "Nobody knows how Noel is going to take the news. He is not fond of Georges, you know."

"Yes, I know," I told her, "and therefore I think it is wisest to give him the news first."

Olina smiled faintly.

"He'll have time to work himself into a tantrum and out of it again before he sees Mary," she said, and I gave her an answering smile of comprehension.

"Exactly," I said, "and now may I ask a favor of you?"

"I think I know what it is," she said. "You wish me to disappear from the picture while you are passing on this news to Noel."

"You are positively psychic," I told her, and she moved toward the door.

"I shall go directly to my room," she said, "and remain there until Norman comes back. When you go back to your apartment, will you ask her to come to me when she reaches here? And do you mind putting yourself out if Noel is too upset to remember the usual amenities?"

"That little amenity is all arranged," I told her. "My husband has insisted that I tell him when I am ready to go back, and he will come up and escort me to our own door."

"Then I can bid you good night with a clear conscience," she said, hugging me warmly. "Thank you so much for everything, Aunt Madge."

"I am so glad for your happiness, dear girl," I told her, returning her embrace, and then she was gone, shutting the door softly behind her, as if, I told myself, she were in the mood to have everything muted that she might better dwell on her release from fear and her anticipation of a blissful reunion with her betrothed husband.

Waiting only until I was sure she was safely out of hearing, I opened the other livingroom door, and called to Noel. He came from his room instantly, and I wasted no time in giving him the warning I wished him to have.

"Olina asked me just now if I had told you and Mary about Georges' return," I said. "I told her, 'not yet,' a truth where Mary is concerned. I thought she ought to feel she had priority on the news."

"You wouldn't have told me if I hadn't pressed you," Noel said remorsefully.

"That is water under the bridge," I said crisply. "I told Olina that I was going to tell you now about Georges' return, and give the news to Mary when she should next awaken. What I want you to do now is to forget that I have spoken of the matter before this time. But if she speaks to you about it, you have my permission to tell her that you know about the plans for the wedding, and offer congratulations or commiserations, whichever you think are needed."

His answering smile to the one I gave him was a wry one with distaste in it, but I ignored it, and moved toward the telephone.

"I promised Dicky I would telephone him as soon as I had finished my errand," I told him. "He wished to come after me."

"Then I will stay here until he comes up," he said, seating himself after I had taken the chair by the telephone.

"Thank you," I said perfunctorily, and called Dicky forthwith.

"All read," I told him.

"I'll be right up," he said, and then I heard the murmer of voices.

"Wait a second," my husband said, and then his voice came again.

"Olga wants to know if it will be all right for her and Philip to come up with me. She is anxious to see Olina."

I knew the maternal anxiety behind the request, and did my best to alleviate it.

"Olina is anxious to see her," I said. "She is waiting for her."

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Nov. 8—Scattered stocks continued to edge forward today although many market leaders stumbled.

Dealings were sluggish from the start. Gains mostly were in fractions near the final hour with small losses widely distributed. Numerous pivotals never appeared on the ticker tape.

Borg-Warner strengthened on a favorable dividend. Chrysler was up a shade only in the wake of a pleasing profits summary. Resistant were Goodyear, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Sperry and Sears Roebuck. Backward were U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Telephone, Kennecott, American Can, International Nickel, Union Carbide, Chesapeake & Ohio and Coca-Cola.
